Today, on 2nd May 2018, Mangal has entered its uccha rashi and has joined Ketu there. It will stay in Makar rashi till 6th November 2018. Ketu is going to be there till 7th March 2019 which means that this Mars-Ketu combination will be there till 6th November 2018. Mars, the planet of aggression, courage, war and invention, has entered a rare six month long transit in its sign of exaltation, Capricorn.

Every two years Mangal gets into a retrograde motion and this prolongs its transit in one or two signs. From a usual transit of around forty days in a rashi the length of the transit may increase to around six months when Mars becomes retrograde.

Makar rashi is the Uccha rashi, the sign of exaltation, for Mangal. This means that Mars is at its best and in its most powerful state in Makar rashi. Though Mars' such long transits are commonly witnessed in other signs, in its sign of exaltation this happens quite rarely.

The last such transit in Capricorn, when Mars became retrograde in it and stayed in this sign for around six months, was from 21st April 1971 to 24th October 1971. A similar retrogression of Mars and an unusually long transit in its exalted state, before 1971, was in 1939 from 6th May 1939 to 8th November 1939. In 1939, during such a transit of Mangal in its uccha rashi, the world witnessed the official beginning of World War II. The 1971 transit brought about the creation of Bangladesh.

The last transit when Mars-Ketu were together (Mars was not exalted) and Mars was in a retrograde transit was in 2001 which was marked by the catastrophic events of 911 when the twin towers were destroyed by the terrorists.

What can we expect from this year's Mars-Ketu transit in Capricorn? Well, Mars being the rules of war and aggression this transit will increase the chances of violent conflicts all over the world. Politicians who are desperate to create war like situations to save their own seats of power will get or create many opportunities to do so.

Loss of life and property due to riots, terrorist activities and natural calamities will happen more frequently. Financial irregularities will plague the economies all over the world and harsh actions to cure these ills may create a lot of discomfort for the common people.

There will be new inventions and breakthroughs in the field of science and technology because Mars rules over technology too. Such developments will be primarily in the areas related to warfare, information technology, robotics and artificial intelligence.

Looking at the state international affairs around the world and the hard headed leaders in most nations today, this prolonged transit of Mars-Ketu in Makar rashi may begin a new but difficult era for the mankind.
